BLOCK
MANAGEMENT
A Landowner/Hunter Partnership

Montana Fish,
Wildlife & Parks

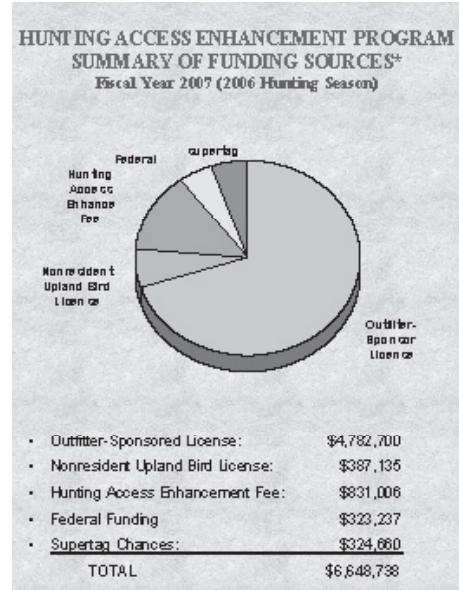

ABOUT THE PROGRAM....

BLOCK MANAGEMENT provides managed public hunting free of charge on private and isolated public land enrolled through cooperative agreements between Fish, Wildlife, & Parks (FWP), private landowners, and public land management agencies.

BLOCK MANAGEMENT

- Landowners do not forfeit any private property rights by enrolling land, including the right to deny access for cause and the right to enforce ranch rules;
- Every Block Management Area (BMA) has rules specific to that BMA. It is the hunter's responsibility to know the rules for a BMA being hunted;
- Hunters with special needs are encouraged to contact the regional FWP office to determine if opportunities exist to meet specific needs;
- Hunters should sign permission slips only for the actual days of hunting. Signing for additional days costs program dollars that could be used to enroll other BMA properties;
- Hunters should cancel reservations if unable to hunt on the reserved day. Failure to cancel reservations may result in cancellation of future BMA privileges;
- Hunter behavior determines whether or not landowners participate in the program. Courteous, legal, and ethical behavior keeps gates open. Please report any violations.
- There are two types of BMAs:
 - Type 1 BMA: area where hunters administer their own permission. This includes BMAs that use sign-in boxes, and BMAs that do not require hunters to obtain permission. Typically, Type 1 BMAs do not limit hunter numbers or require reservations, although some parking areas have vehicle limits.
 - Type II BMA: area where someone other than the hunter issues permission. This includes BMAs where the landowner or an FWP staff member issues permission. Type II BMAs often require reservations and utilize pasture assignments, hunter number limits, and other hunter management systems.

• BMA Maps:

- In Regions 1-5 (central and western Montana), BMA maps may be obtained from regional and area FWP offices, either in person or by phone. Regional offices can ONLY supply maps and information for BMAs in that particular region. A limit of five (5) BMA maps may be provided per request to reduce administrative costs and help disperse hunter pressure.
- In Regions 6-7 (eastern Montana), BMA maps may ONLY be obtained at the BMA site, provided to hunters who have obtained permission to hunt the BMA.

HOW TO GAIN ACCESS TO REGION 7 BLOCK MANAGEMENT AREAS

To help make your hunting experience enjoyable for everyone involved we offer the following suggestions:

- Refer to county charts and regional maps to select areas in which you desire to hunt.
- Type I BMAs – hunters sign-in for permission; if selecting a Type II BMA, proceed to the next step.
- Call the Block Management staff Aug. 15 – Jan. 14 at (406) 234-0930 for method of obtaining permission and other information. (You will need the BMA I.D. #);
- Landowner contact information will be given for 5 BMAs per phone inquiry. Contact information usually consists of the name and phone number of the person(s) with authority to grant permission, (maps are issued upon receiving permission from the landowners or the BMA contact person).
- When contacting landowners to secure permission, follow the specified calling times. When call times are not specified, please call between 7:00am and 9:00pm Mountain Time.

To help ensure the future continuation of the program hunters are required to notify the landowner/cooperator of cancellations. Failing to do so is disrespectful to landowners and can lead cooperator withdrawal and ultimately a loss in hunting opportunity.

Access to private property enrolled in Block Management is a privilege, not a right. Hunters are required to obtain written permission, abide by BMA rules and recognize the need to share the use of the BMA with other hunters as opportunities are allocated. Written permission for BMAs is administered on a first-come first served basis via phone reservations or in person on site.

Each BMA incorporates its own management style. This can include limits on daily hunter numbers, vehicular travel restrictions, pasture assignments, temporary closures etc.

HUNTING IN SOUTHEASTERN MONTANA

Private lands comprise 76% of the total land area (30,000 sq. miles) in Region 7. Interspersed among private land are state (6%) and federal (18%) lands. The Block Management Program is a cooperative program that provides landowners with personal, social and economic incentives that encourage and reward them for impacts associated with providing free public hunting. It is designed to preserve Montana's public hunting heritage.

PRIVATE LANDS

Access still can be obtained on private property throughout much of the region by respectfully asking for permission. However, free public hunting opportunities on private lands are becoming increasingly difficult to find. The Block Management Program has been established to help facilitate the tradition of free public hunting. Through these cooperative efforts, nearly 350 landowners have opened approximately 3.5 million acres to the public in 2008.

PUBLIC LANDS

Region 7 contains over 3.8 million acres of public land (BLM, State Lands, National Forest Service and National Wildlife Refuge). Public lands are accessible via public roads, adjacent public land and/or across private land, which requires landowner permission. Hunting activities on federal lands are subject to both state and federal regulations. Some accessible tracts of Department of Natural Resource Land (State School Trust Land) are formally enrolled in the Block Management Program in Region 7, with BMA restrictions imposed for resource and hunter management reasons. Formally enrolled State Land must be properly signed in order to impose restrictions. Please contact regional FWP staff to verify accessibility and use rules for accessible public lands contained within BMA boundaries.

WILDLIFE INFORMATION

The Region produces, on the average, about one-third of the state's annual deer harvest and up to 45% of the state's annual antelope harvest.

Mule Deer – Mule Deer are common throughout Southeastern MT, however Hunting Districts 704 and 705 are traditionally the most productive mule deer districts.

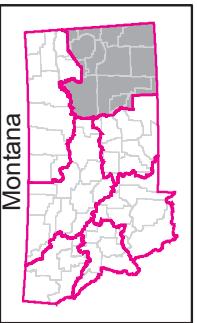

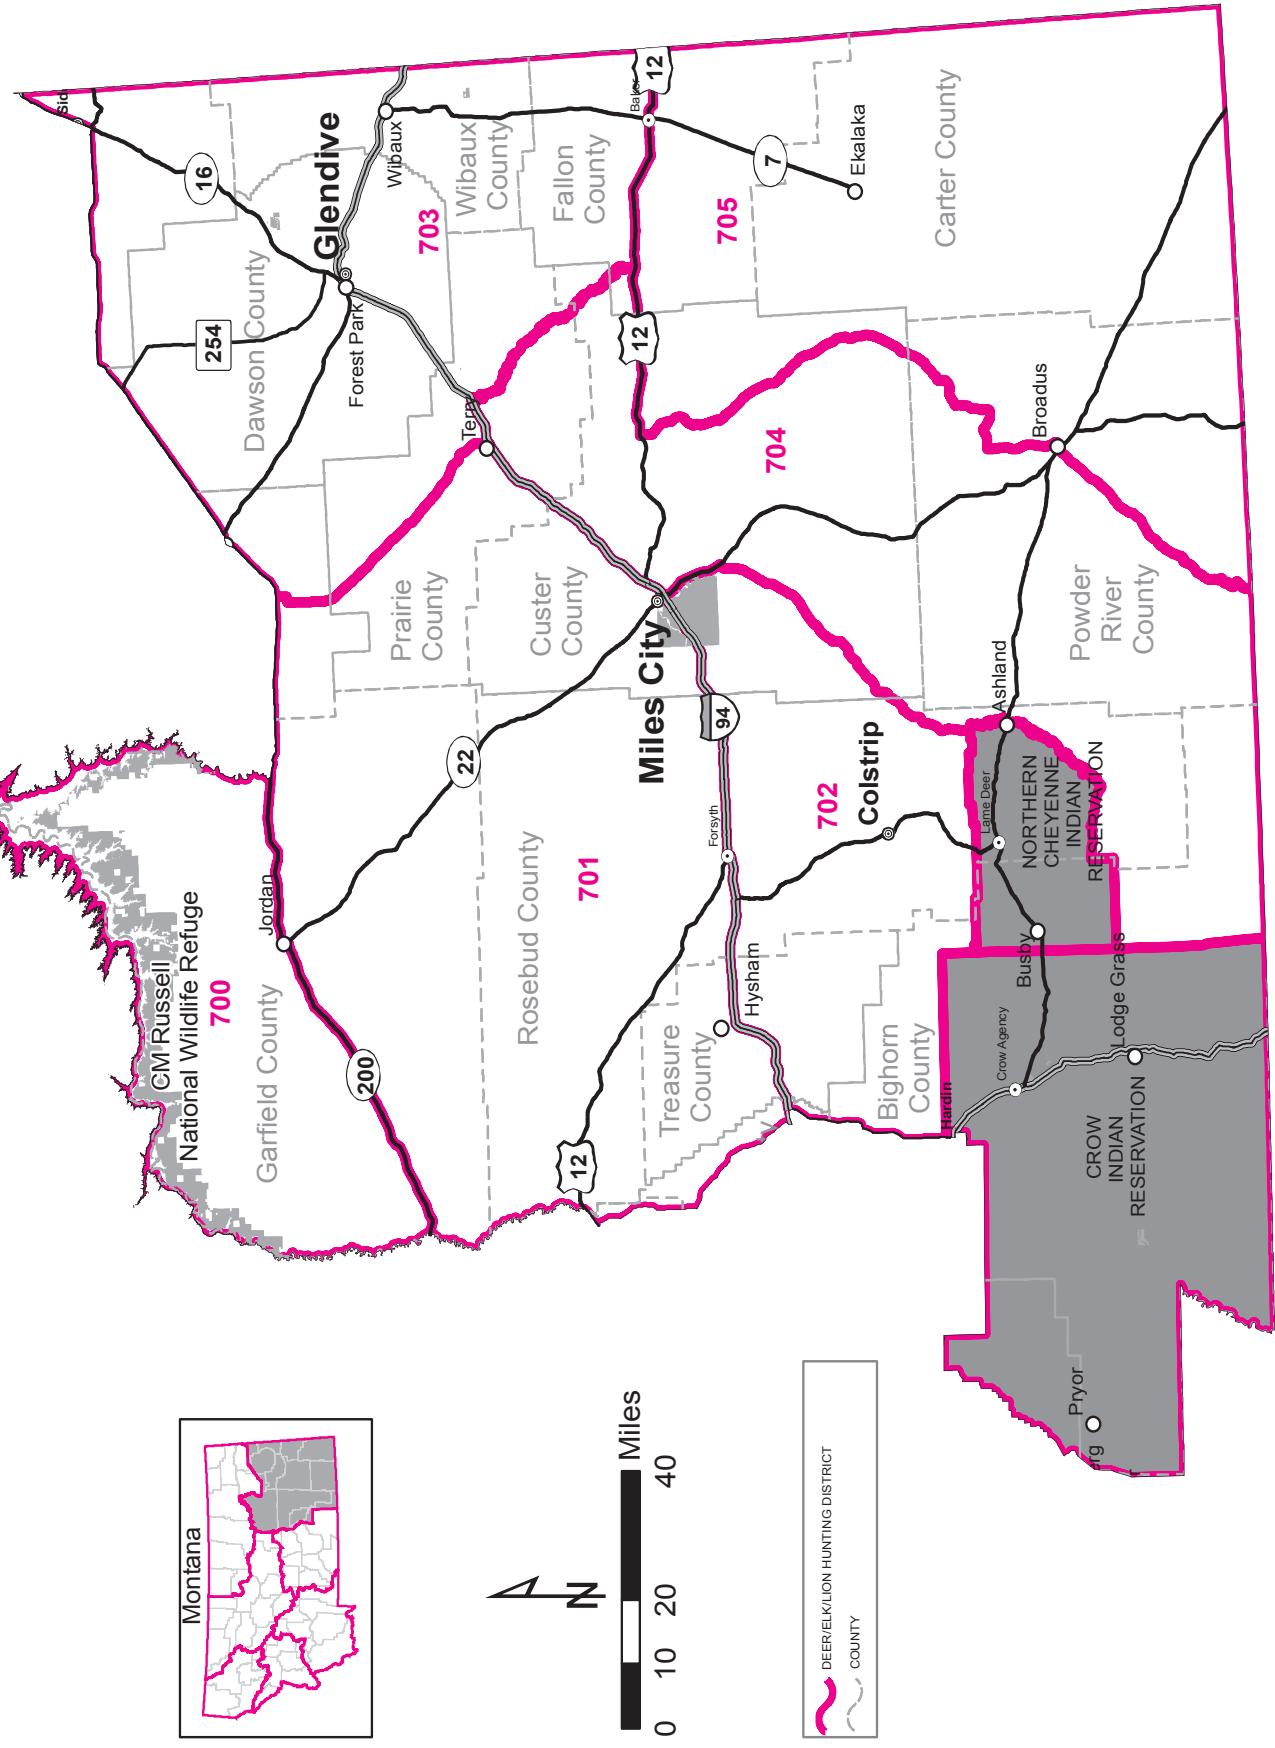

White-tailed Deer – White-tailed deer can be found in conjunction with riparian and agricultural areas throughout Region 7. Hunting districts 701 and 703 offer the majority of white-tailed deer habitat.

Antelope - Hunting districts 701 and 705 typically are the more productive antelope areas but antelope can be found in huntable number throughout the region.

Upland Game Birds - Six species of upland game birds occur in Southeastern Montana. Native birds include sharp-tailed grouse, sage grouse and the migratory mourning dove. Non-native species are the ring-necked pheasant, Hungarian (gray) partridge and Merriam's turkey. Grouse species are fairly well dispersed through the region. Pheasant numbers are generally stronger in the NE portion of the region but can be found concurrent to major riparian areas throughout the region.

Waterfowl - Several species of waterfowl can be found throughout the region in stock ponds and major river systems. The Canada goose is the primary waterfowl species. The Yellowstone River is closed to waterfowl hunting from the mouth of the Big Horn River east to the Rosebud/Custer County line. Waterfowl hunting is legal off the river on adjacent land.

Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks - Region 7

BIG HORN COUNTY

Big Horn County is split between administrative regions five and seven. The county is predominantly private ownership with few scattered tracts of DNRC and BLM land. In comparison to other counties, Big Horn County has relatively few BMAs with 3 cooperators enrolling approximately 10,000 acres. A significant factor to the low number of BM cooperators in this county is a result of inability to enroll properties located within Indian Reservations. The Crow and Northern Cheyenne Indian Reservations, which cover the majority of Big Horn County, are closed to big game hunting but offer waterfowl and upland game bird hunting opportunities. Contact respective Tribal Governments for more information.

In Region 7, Big Horn County primarily consists of pine hills and river riparian habitats. The county is characterized as good mule deer habitat with a mix of sagebrush and coniferous park-like stands. Adequate white-tailed deer habitat exists in association with cropland and riparian areas. Elk numbers are continuing to increase but access is challenging. Antelope populations are marginal, as a result of habitat composition.

In general, waterfowl, upland game birds, and turkeys are abundant. Huntable numbers of pheasants can be found along the Big Horn River and other significant watersheds. Waterfowl hunting along the Big Horn River is consistently good.

CARTER COUNTY

The north end of the county is predominantly private ownership interspersed with scattered tracts of Department of Natural Resources land. Three units of the Custer National Forest and more extensive tracts of BLM land can be found south of Ekalaka. The Hay Draw Cooperative Travel Management Area, which is nearly 35,000 acres, enhances access to public land. A significant portion of private land in Carter County offers commercial hunting opportunities. The Block Management Program in Carter County is relatively strong with 23 BMAs providing public access to approximately 230,000 acres.

Sagebrush grassland, pine hills, juniper breaks and river riparian habitat types all occur in Carter County. Mule deer are found in Carter County and is traditionally an area with high hunter success. White-tailed deer are found in varying numbers primarily along the Powder River, croplands and forested areas. Sagebrush grasslands support healthy antelope populations throughout the county. Antelope populations in the southern areas of the county are rebounding after hard winters several years ago.

Sharp-tailed grouse can be found throughout the county in association with brush coulees and native grasslands or CRP. Pheasant and partridge are scattered and spotty. Turkeys can be found in forest areas or in adjacent cropland. Sage grouse can be found in areas with intact native sagebrush grassland habitats.

CUSTER COUNTY

This county is predominantly composed of private ownership, interspersed with scattered tracts of state school sections and BLM land. The Block Management Program in Custer County is relatively strong with 28 BMAs providing public access to approximately 238,000 acres.

Custer County north of Interstate 94 is within the sagebrush, grassland habitat type while lands to the south of I-94 are in the sagebrush grassland, pine hills and river riparian types. Mule deer are found throughout Custer County. White-tailed deer are scattered, found primarily along the Yellowstone, Tongue, and Powder Rivers. Sagebrush grassland habitats support huntable antelope numbers throughout the county in sagebrush grassland habitats found north of the Yellowstone River.

Sharp-tailed grouse can be found throughout the county but are more apparent south of the Yellowstone River in association with brush coulees and intermixed grasslands. Pheasant are concentrated along larger river and creek bottom habitats where a mixture of native grassland, shrub coulees, cropland and CRP fields are more common. Partridge populations tend to be spotty. Turkeys can be found along river and major creek bottoms in areas with more extensive cottonwood, green ash riparian bottoms. In areas with intact native sagebrush grassland habitats, sage grouse are common.

Waterfowl can be found on area stock ponds prior to the onset of colder weather. Waterfowl hunting along the Yellowstone, particularly for geese, is excellent and typically improves after area stock dams have frozen.

DAWSON COUNTY

Dawson County is predominantly privately owned with scattered tracts of state school section land and little BLM land. However, a significant block of BLM lies within in the southeastern corner. Makoshika State Park (8,832 acres) offers additional hunting public opportunities. A considerable portion of private land in this county has the hunting right leased. As a result, expanding the Block Management Program in this area has been challenging, currently 25 BMAs provide public access to approximately 172,000 acres.

Dawson County is generally grassland and river riparian habitat type. Mule deer are found throughout Dawson County and have maintained a stable population. The rougher breaks-type country in the northern portion county provides better mule deer habitat. White-tailed deer are found throughout the County with better habitats found along the Yellowstone River and in association with ash draws, CRP and cropland. The white-tailed deer population in this area appears to be stable. Antelope are generally limited and found in small-localized populations in rolling native grasslands.

Sharp-tailed grouse can be found throughout the county in association with brush coulees, agriculture and intermixed and grasslands. Pheasant are found along the Yellowstone River, as well as in the northern portion of the county were a mixture of native grassland and shrub coulees, small grain cropland and CRP exists. Partridge tend to be spotty and are found in areas similar to pheasant but with a larger proportion of cropland. Turkey's can be found along the Yellowstone River and up tributary creeks with extensive cottonwood bottoms. The lack of sagebrush habitats results in small-localized populations of sage grouse exists in only the southeastern parts of the county. Across the county upland game bird number appear to be increasing.

Waterfowl can be found on area stock ponds prior to the onset of winter weather. Waterfowl hunting along the Yellowstone River, particularly for geese, is excellent and typically improves after area stock dams have frozen.

FALLON COUNTY

The county is largely privately owned with scattered tracts of state school section land. A band of scattered BLM land runs along the eastern edge of the county near the North Dakota border. Energy development is substantial in this area. The Block Management Program has experience widespread acceptance in this area and continues to expand. Currently 42 BMAs provides access to approximately 241,000 acres.

Fallon County is within the sagebrush grassland and juniper breaks habitat type. Mule deer are found throughout Fallon County. White-tailed deer are scattered, found primarily along Pennel, O'Fallon and Sandstone Creeks. Typically higher antelope populations are found south of Highway 12.

Sharp-tailed grouse can be found throughout the area in association with brush coulees interspersed amongst grasslands. Pheasants are restricted to larger creek bottom habitats in the county where a mixture of native grassland, shrub coulees, small grain cropland and CRP fields. Partridge tend to be spotty. Turkeys can be found along larger creek drainages in association with more extensive green ash bottoms. With relatively abundant sagebrush grassland habitat in this county, sage grouse are common.

GARFIELD COUNTY

The northern half of Garfield County is primarily federal land, consisting of both Charles M. Russell National Wildlife Refuge and BLM land. Access to this land can be difficult with only five major public access points to Fort Peck Reservoir. Garfield County continues to be one of Region 7's strongest areas in terms of Block Management participation with 52 cooperators currently allowing public access to approximately 467,000 acres.

Garfield County consists of sagebrush, grassland, and river breaks habitats. Mule deer are found throughout the county. The antelope numbers are good in this county. White-tailed deer are found throughout the county in localized numbers and associated with agriculture lands.

Sharp-tailed grouse are found in the brush country and in association with grain and CRP fields. Sage grouse populations are good where adequate sagebrush habitat still remains. Pheasant hunting opportunities are present with considerable land enrolled in the CRP program in northern Garfield County. Partridge are found in spotty numbers. Turkeys typically found in association with timbered breaks interspersed with cultivated land.

MCCONE COUNTY

McCone County is split between administrative regions six and seven. The southern ¼ of McCone County, south of highway 200, is in Region 7. However several BMAs lay within Region 6 are administered from Region 7. The county is predominantly in private ownership with scattered tracts of state school section land. The Block Management Program in McCone County is relatively strong with 24 cooperators currently allowing public access to approximately 155,000 acres.

McCone County is within the sagebrush-prairie grassland habitat type. Mule deer are found throughout the area, especially in rougher, breaks-type country in the southern end of the county. White-tailed deer are scattered and found in association with CRP cropland along creek bottoms. Antelope are generally found in rolling native grasslands dispersed though the county.

McCone County typically supports some of the higher upland bird densities within Region 7. Sharp-tailed grouse can be found throughout the area in association with brushy coulees interspersed amongst primarily native grasslands. Pheasant are found in areas with a mixture of native grassland, shrub coulees, grain cropland and idle tame grass. Partridge tend to be spotty and are found in areas similar to pheasant but with a larger emphasis on cultivated land. Area habitat is conducive for sage grouse along the western edge of the county.

POWDER RIVER COUNTY

This county consists of largely private ownership interspersed with tracts of DNRC and BLM land. The outfitting industry has a stronghold on hunting in Powder River County with commercial hunting opportunities available, most notably in the southern portion of the county. West portion of the county consists of the Custer National Forest. A significant portion of public land, primary BLM land, exists in southern Powder River County. Although this county's hunting on private land is primarily leased, 21 landowners have displayed their philanthropic spirit by allowing public access to approximately 190,000 acres.

Powder River County is within the pine hills, river riparian habitat type. This area is historically known for mule deer hunting opportunities. White-tailed deer are found primarily along major creeks and rivers and associated croplands and forested areas. Sagebrush grassland habitats that support antelope are common throughout the county as are huntable antelope populations. An expanding elk population exists near the Custer National Forest and adjacent private lands however, access may be difficult to obtain.

Sharp-tailed grouse can be found throughout the county in association with brushy coulees interspersed amongst primarily native grasslands. Pheasant are found in limited number in association with larger river and creek bottom habitats with a mixture of irrigated cropland, wetland and or brushy areas. Pheasant can also be found where mixtures of native grassland and shrub coulees, irrigated, small grain cropland or idle tame grass such as CRP are more common. Good number of turkeys can be found in forest areas or in adjacent cropland and major river/creek bottoms with adequate cottonwood riparian bottoms. Sage grouse can be found in areas with intact native sagebrush grassland habitats.

PRAIRIE COUNTY

This county is composed of a mixture of private ownership interspersed with scattered sections of Department of Natural Resources Land and BLM land. A considerable amount of public access is available in Prairie County as a result of the significant amount of BLM in this area. The Block Management Program in Prairie County is relatively strong with 23 BMAs generating public access to approximately 325,000 acres.

Prairie County north of Interstate 94, is within the sagebrush grassland, badland break and river riparian habitat type. Lands to the south of I-94 are in the sagebrush grassland, pine hills and river riparian habitat types. Mule deer are found throughout Prairie County. White-tailed deer are found primarily along the Yellowstone and major creeks. Antelope are evenly dispersed throughout the county, occurring in native grassland habitats

Sharp-tailed grouse can be found throughout the county in association with brushy coulees interspersed amongst native grasslands. Pheasant occur in association with larger river and creek bottom habitats with a mixture of irrigated cropland, wetland and or brushy areas. Pheasant can also be found where mixtures of native grassland and shrub coulees, irrigated, small grain cropland or idle tame grass such as CRP are common. Partridge tend to be spotty. Turkeys can be found along river and major creek bottoms in areas with cottonwood, green ash riparian bottoms. Sage grouse can be found in areas with intact native sagebrush grassland habitats.

Waterfowl are found on area stock dams prior to freeze-up. Hunting along the Yellowstone improves once stock dams have frozen and prior to the Yellowstone itself freezing up.

RICHLAND COUNTY

The county is split between administrative regions six and seven. The southeast $\frac{1}{4}$ of Richland County, south of Highway 200 is located in Region 7. However several BMAs lay within Region 6 are administered from Region 7. This county is predominantly in private ownership with scattered tracts of state school section land and little BLM land. Elk Island and Seven Sisters Wildlife Management Areas offer public access along the Yellowstone River. Hunter pressure is high on these WMAs. Richland County supports 19 BMAs creating public access to approximately 82,000 acres.

Richland County is within the grassland, river riparian habitat type. Mule deer populations are stable but less prevalent than other portions of the region. They are typically inhabit the rougher, breaks-type country. White-tailed Deer are found primarily along the Yellowstone River and creek bottoms. The white-tailed deer population in this area appears to be stable. Antelope are generally limited and found in small, localized populations in rolling native grasslands.

Sharp-tailed grouse occur throughout the area interspersed with brushy coulees and grasslands. Pheasants populate the Yellowstone River particularly west of the Yellowstone in areas with a mixture of native grassland and shrub coulees, small grain cropland and CRP. Partridge tend to be spotty and are found in areas similar to pheasant but with a larger proportion of small grain cropland. Turkeys inhabit the Yellowstone River and creeks that feed into the Yellowstone Valley. Because of the lack of sagebrush, area habitat is not conducive to sage grouse. Across the county upland game bird numbers appear to be increasing. This county offers some of the higher quality upland bird hunting within Region 7.

The Yellowstone River Valley typically supports waterfowl hunting , dependent on winter freeze-up.

ROSEBUD COUNTY

The majority of Rosebud County is comprised of privately owned land, with many properties leased or requiring a trespass fee. The northern portion of Rosebud County is particularly known for quality antelope hunting. The northern two-thirds of the county is sagebrush grassland – river riparian habitats. The southern third of the county has similar habitat type with the addition of pine-hills habitat type. All huntable species can be found throughout the county in suitable habitat types. The Block Management Program in Rosebud County maintains 21 BMAs currently facilitating public access to approximately 317,000 acres.

Small isolated elk populations are stable and may be increasing. Access to localized elk populations is difficult obtain. Mule deer and antelope numbers are good with stable populations. Surveys indicate white-tailed deer numbers are increasing in this county.

Upland game birds can be found in huntable numbers in conjunction to suitable habitat. Pheasants inhabit the Yellowstone and Tongue Rivers, sage grouse and sharp-tailed grouse populate rangeland north and south of the Yellowstone River. Turkeys occur throughout much of the count and numbers are good.

Waterfowl and specifically Canada Geese are abundant along the Yellowstone River in this area. The Yellowstone River is closed to waterfowl hunting from the mouth of the Big Horn River and east to the Rosebud/Custer County line. Waterfowl hunting is legal off the river on adjacent land.

TREASURE COUNTY

The majority of Treasure County is comprised of privately owned lands with very little federal land and scattered tracts of State DNRC Land. The northern half of the county is sagebrush grassland, river riparian habitat. The south half of the county is pine-hills, sagebrush grassland and river riparian habitat. All huntable species can be found in suitable habitat. The county has one Wildlife Management Area (Isaac Homestead), which has excellent white-tailed deer and upland habitat. The WMA is very popular with hunters resulting in heavy hunting pressure. The Block Management Program in Treasure County maintains 16 BMAs that generate public access to approximately 275,000 acres.

Elk numbers are stable and may be increasing. Access to localized elk populations is difficult obtain. Surveys indicate white-tailed deer numbers are increasing in this area. Mule deer and antelope numbers are good with stable populations. The antelope population north of the Yellowstone River is strong. South of the Yellowstone, antelope populations have traditionally been lower, resulting from marginal antelope habitat.

Waterfowl and specifically geese are abundant along the Yellowstone River in this county. The Yellowstone River is closed to waterfowl hunting from the mouth of the Big Horn River and east to the Custer County line. Waterfowl hunting is legal off the river on adjacent land.

WIBAUX COUNTY

Wibaux County is predominantly privately owned with scattered tracts of state school section land and little BLM land except in the extreme southwestern corner. Lamesteer National Wildlife Refuge is located in southern Wibaux County. As in the case in other counties, several landowners in Wibaux County lease the hunting on their property. However, a fair amount of landowners still allow limited public hunting when asked. In respect to the rest of Region 7, Block Management participation in Wibaux County is relatively small with 7 BMAs providing public access to approximately 50,000 acres.

Wibaux County is within the grassland – river riparian habitat type. Mule deer numbers are stable and are found throughout the county, although predominantly in the rougher breaks type country in the northern and western portion. White-tailed deer population appears to be on an upward trend. White-tailed deer are common along Beaver Creek and other areas with woody draws, CRP and cropland. Antelope numbers across the county are stable with small-localized populations north of Interstate 94. South of I-94 antelope numbers increase as sagebrush grassland habitats increase.

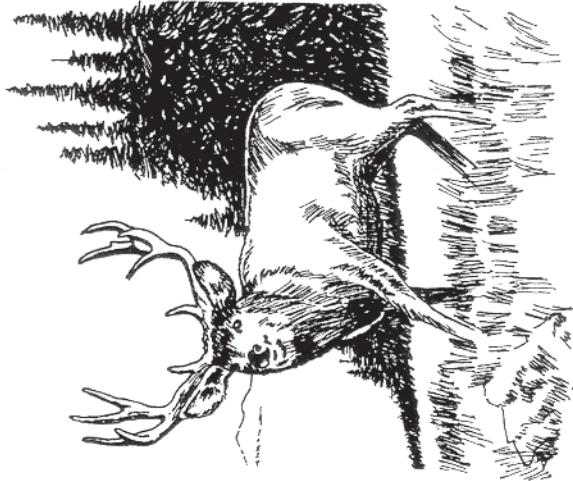

Sharp-tailed grouse occupy areas with brushy coulees interspersed with native grasslands. Pheasant are found along Beaver Creek where a mixture of native grassland and shrub coulees, small grain cropland and idle tame grass such as CRP are common. Turkeys inhabit Beaver Creek. Because of the lack of sagebrush habitats, small-localized populations of sage grouse exist primarily in the southern parts of the county. Across the county, bird numbers appear to be stable or increasing.

OTHER ACCESS OPPORTUNITIES

Block Management and Public Lands

In many cases, enrollment of deeded ground into block management provides access to otherwise inaccessible tracts of state or federal land or blocks together large tracts of public and private land. Each block management area (BMA) has rules unique to that BMA. Recreationists should become familiar with the individual BMA ranch rules prior to actually hunting on the BMA. As a general rule, BMA restrictions do not apply to legally-accessible tracts of public land adjacent to, or contained within, the BMA boundaries. However, in some cases, legally-accessible public lands ARE formally enrolled, with BMA restrictions imposed for resource or hunter management reasons. Contact regional FWP staff to verify rules for accessible public lands associated with BMAs.

Streams and Access

Some BMAs have streams within their boundaries, so it is important to know and understand Montana's Stream Access Law. Under this statute, rivers and streams capable of recreational use may be used by the public within the ordinary high water marks. Although this law gives recreationists the right to pursue water-based activities within the high water marks of rivers and streams, it does not give recreationists the right to enter private lands bordering those streams or to cross private lands to gain access to streams. Islands may or may not be public lands. Before hunting on islands, always verify ownership. Check with county offices or FWP regional offices to confirm land ownership.

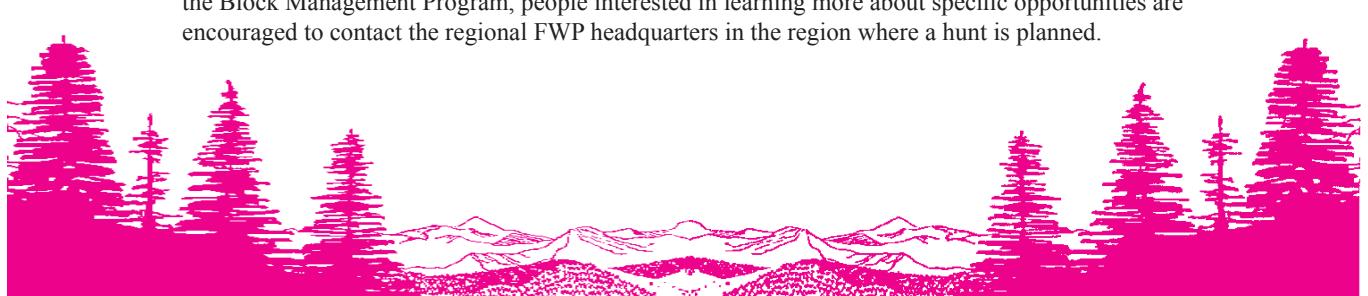

Other FWP Hunting Access Opportunities

In addition to the Block Management Program, other FWP programs may provide hunting access opportunities.

These include:

- 1) Access Montana - focuses on public access to state and federal lands;
- 2) Special Access Projects - regional species-specific projects;
- 3) Habitat Montana - focuses on habitat protection through conservation easement; may also include limited public access provisions;
- 4) Upland Game Bird Habitat and Pheasant Release Program - long-term upland bird habitat projects; statewide listing available Septem
- 5) Wildlife Management Areas and Fishing Access Sites - FWP-owned lands which may provide public hunting access opportunities;

While these public hunting access opportunities may or may not be managed under the auspices of the Block Management Program, people interested in learning more about specific opportunities are encouraged to contact the regional FWP headquarters in the region where a hunt is planned.
